

Privacy Policy

Who we are

Our website address is: <https://www.nebiolab.com>

Our Commitment To Privacy

This privacy policy sets out how NorthEast BioLab uses and protects any information that you give NorthEast BioLab when you use this website.

We provide this notice explaining our online information practices and the choices you can make about the way your information is collected and used. To make this notice easy to find, we make it available on our homepage and at every other page where personally identifiable information may be requested.

NorthEast Biolab may change this policy from time to time by updating this page. You should check this page from time to time to ensure that you are happy with any changes. This policy is effective from June 30, 2018.

What Personal Data We Collect And Why Do We Collect It?

This notice applies to all information collected or submitted on the NorthEast Biolab website. On our Home page, Speak To Our Scientist, Request Quotation, and Contact Us pages, you can make an inquiry, make requests, and register to receive company information or materials. The types of personal information collected at these pages include, but is not limited to:

Contact forms

First Name

Last Name

Email

Phone

How Can We Help You

Comments

When visitors leave comments on the site we can collect the data shown in the comments form, and also the visitor's IP address and browser user agent string to help spam detection. All collected data gets recorded in the i) Salesforce CRM and ii) Hubspot CRM service as feasible. The Salesforce privacy policy and Hubspot privacy policy are available at <https://www.salesforce.com/company/privacy> and <https://legal.hubspot.com/privacy-policy>, respectively.

By providing this information you agree to be contacted by NorthEast BioLab and its affiliates.

How We Use Cookies?

A cookie is a small file that asks permission to be placed on your computer's hard drive. Once you agree, the file is added and the cookie helps analyze web traffic or lets you know when you visit a particular site. Cookies allow web applications to respond to you as an individual. The web application can tailor its operations to your needs, likes, and dislikes by gathering and remembering information about your preferences.

We use traffic log cookies to identify which pages are being used. This helps us analyze data about web page traffic and improve our website to tailor it as per customer needs. We only use this information for statistical analysis purposes and then the data is removed from the system.

Overall, cookies help us provide you with a better website, by enabling us to monitor which pages you find useful and which you do not. A cookie in no way gives us access to your computer or any information about you, other than the data you choose to share with us.

You can choose to accept or decline cookies. Most web browsers automatically accept cookies, but you can usually modify your browser setting to decline cookies if you prefer. This may prevent you from taking full advantage of the website.

If you leave a comment on our site you may opt-in to saving your name, email address, and website in cookies. These are for your convenience so that you may not have to fill in your details again when you leave another comment. These cookies can last for multiple years.

If you have an account and you log in to this site, we will set a temporary cookie to determine if your browser accepts cookies. This cookie contains no personal data and is discarded when you close your browser.

When you log in, we will also set up several cookies to save your login information and your screen display choices. Login cookies last for a few days, and screen options cookies can last for a few years. If you select "Remember Me", your login will persist for several weeks.

If you edit or publish an article, an additional cookie will be saved in your browser. This cookie includes no personal data and simply indicates the post ID of the article you just edited.

Embedded Content From Other Websites

Our website may contain links to enable you to visit other websites of interest easily. Articles on this site may include embedded content (e.g. videos, images, articles, etc.). Embedded content from other websites behaves in the exact same way as if the visitor has visited the other website. However, once you have used these links to leave our site, you should note that we do not have any control over that other website. Therefore, we cannot be responsible for the protection and privacy of any information which you provide whilst visiting such sites and such sites are not governed by this privacy statement. You should exercise caution and look at the privacy statement applicable to the website in question.

These websites may collect data about you, use cookies, embed additional third-party tracking, and monitor your interaction with that embedded content, including tracing your interaction with the embedded content if you have an account and are logged in to that website.

We will not sell, distribute or lease your personal information to third parties unless we have your permission or are required by law to do so. We may use your personal information to send you promotional information about third parties which we think you may find interesting if you tell us that you wish this to happen.

How To Contact Us?

Should you have other questions or concerns about these privacy policies, please send us an email at: info@nebiolab.com.